FARMER FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED

Francis Bilby's Demise Proved a Shock to His Many Friends in Rush and Fayette.

SON MADE GHASTLY DISCOVERY

Deceased Was a Pioneer Citizen and an Extensive Land Owner—Funeral Thursday.

It will be with regret that the many friends of Francis Bilby in Rush county will learn of his sudden demise which occurred yesterday. He was well and favorably known and was one of the largest land owners in Fayette county.

The Connersville Examiner says of his death:

Francis Marion Bilby, a prominent farmer of near Bunker Hill was found in an unconscious state this morning shortly after six o'clock, and five minutes later died.

Mr. Bilby was seventy-eight years of age and for some time had been complaining at different intervals of a pain in his chest, near his heart.

Yesterday he spent most of the day here and drove back to his home late in the evening. He did not retire until ten o'clock and went to bed seemingly as well as usual. This morning his son, Morton Bilby, who, with his family, made his home with his father, found him at 6:10 lying across the bed partly dressed. He had evidently suffered a severe attack of heart trouble while dressing and dropped on the bed. He was lying on his back when found and life was not quite extinct, but five minutes later, before the physician had time to arrive, the breath had left the body.

The deceased was born in this county, June 5, 1830. His wife was Miss Dorcas Anna Atherton of near Longwood. Her death occurred on August 28, 1904.

He is survived by seven sons and two daughters, Charles, Elmer and Sherman Bilby of Muncie; Alvie, the trustee of Fairview township; Emerson of near Bunker Hill; and Morton, who resided at the old homestead. The daughters, Mrs. Abe Kinder and Mrs. Elisha Williams, reside west of the city.

Coroner Hamilton's verdict was death from heart disease.

The funeral service will take place Thursday morning at the Lick Creek church. The cortege will leave the house at ten o'clock.

TEMPERATURE FELL AND WE HAD SNOW

First of the Season Came Last Night With Sudden Change in Weather.

MADE A NOISE LIKE XMAS

Snow fell here last night for the first time this fall. Of course street cleaners or the "White Wing" were not called into service to clear it off this morning, but last night the ground was white in many places. A sudden fall in the temperature caused the rain to turn to snow.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

A marriage license was issued to Miss Eva F. Land and Orba M. Jackson yesterday evening. Both are popular young people of Jefferson

RECORD FOR THE SEASON

Nine Ducks in Three Shots is Not Bad.

Joe Mason claims the record for wild duck shooting for the season, because of his performance last week, says the Shelbyville Democrat. He was out hunting along Flat Rock, near the Mason place, and found a flock of wild ducks. The first shot brought down four of the flock and he got the other five in two shots. We only hope that if he wants to go hunting again this year he will be more careful. We would like to have a few of the ducks left over for next year.

LINK TELLS WIFE SHE MUST BEAT IT

Vaudeville Performer Finds His Mate Had an Affinity on Her Staff.

A SHAKE-UP IN THE CAST

Billy Link, who with his big vaudeville company, played a two night's engagement at the Grand theater here, has been having a peek of trouble with his little wife and her sister, Georgia Charters, who did the coon singing and whistling stunt.

Mrs. Billy and her sister had been making eyes at two male members of the company, and last week Link found wife writing a note to her affinity at Huntington, Ind. He secured the letter and a domestic riot ensued. The climax was reached when Link told his wife and Miss Charters to pack their trunks and beat it. They followed instructions.

This week Mrs. Link's mother was in Rushville to make arrangements about caring for her daughter's child.

ARE PREPARING TO ATTEND IN FORCE

Local Oddfellows Meet Tonight to Arrange Dedication Day Program.

GGOD MANY ANTICIPATE GOING

Tonight the local Oddfellows will meet to complete arrangements to go to Indianapolis on special cars to attend the Grand Lodge building dedication.

The dedication of the new building of the I. O. O. F. at the corner of Pennsylvania and Washington streets at Indianapolis, will be Wednesday, November 18th.

Special arrangements have been made to make this a great day for Odd Fellowship and it is desired that all Oddfellows make an extra effort to be present.

There will be a torch light procession at night that promises to be one of the largest of the kind ever seen in Indianapolis.

Connersville will go through here on a special car on the I. & C.

NIMROD IS QUITE OLD.

One of the oldest men that ever applied for a hunter's license in this county, was George W. Phillips, a silver haired old patriarch, seventy-seven years of age. He lives at New Salem.

The county commissioners' court was in session today, considering a ditch remonstrance.

LOCAL WOMAN MADE ADDRESS

Miss Winnifred Muir Spoke to Convention of Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

SAILS FOR CHINA IN JANUARY

Will Take Charge of a Girl's Boarding School at Kiang Upon Arrival There.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Connersville District opened its annual convention at the First Presbyterian church, Tuesday morning, says the Connersville Evening News.

About fifty ladies were present from a distance. Mrs. J. E. McCartney of Shelbyville, presided. The devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Pinnick of Milton. After the President's address Rev. St. Clair of the Grand Avenue church, was introduced and made a pleasing address.

Miss Muir of Rushville also made an address. Miss Muir is preparing to sail in January for China, where she will enter the field as principal of the girl's boarding school at Kiang. The session was dismissed at 11:30 and the ladies were invited to the basement of the church where a box lunch was enjoyed. Rev. W. F. Smith, Mr. E. V. Hawkins and Mr. Charles Bierly were the gentlemen guests at the lunch.

The afternoon session opened with a song service conducted by Mrs. W. F. Smith.

Miss Rebecca Daily of Greensburg a returned missionary from China, conducted a conference of study for the year.

At 4 o'clock, Miss May Carr Curtis conducted a conference on children's work, in which a class of children from the public schools was used to illustrate the work.

In the evening Miss Curtis addressed the audience upon the work and especially with experiences in her work at Penang, Malaysia.

Two sessions were held today and a meeting will also be held tonight.

SUSPICIOUS WAS THE MAN ARRESTED

Communication Was Received From Shirley Lady That Tramp Had Stolen a Gold Watch.

LEFT ON BIG FOUR FREIGHT

Marshall Price arrested a suspicious looking character yesterday afternoon on the charge of stealing a watch from a lady in Shirley. A telephone message was sent to the city Marshall telling him to be on the lookout for a tramp who had stolen a ladies gold watch in Shirley and it was thought had left on a Big Four freight train for this city. Unable to receive a communication from the lady, who had been robbed, as to the description of the tramp, Marshall Price set the man free.

WEATHER WAS IDEAL.

Personal supervision could not have brought better weather for the second day of the quail hunting season than that of today. There was a slight rain, some sleet and some snow during the night and the atmosphere was damp and heavy, just what the nimrods wanted. Early this morning the sportsmen were out with their guns and dogs.

WILL BE VICTOR IN NEXT RACE

Watson Will Run for Governor Four Years Hence—Makes Such a Declaration.

WILL HAVE SOMETHING TO SAY

Regarding the Planks in the Platform the Next Time—Was Loudly Cheered.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 11.—James E. Watson has announced his intention of running again for Governor of Indiana. In speaking to the students of Indiana University yesterday he referred to his defeat of last week and went on to say there would be another opportunity for him.

The remark came about as the result of a little pleasant badinage between Mr. Watson and Benjamin F. Shively, president of the board of trustees of Indiana University. Mr. Watson is a member of the board. Both men spoke.

Mr. Watson's words were: "I am going to take this audience into my confidence and tell one of my secrets. It concerns a dream that I have cherished all my life. Ever since I can remember I have dreamed of being Governor of Indiana, and notwithstanding my defeat of last week, I still believe the dream will come true. Dreams always do. The dream of today is the reality of tomorrow. My defeat of last week was only in the first heat of the race. There will be another opportunity."

Mr. Watson's words were greeted with applause. His fellow members of the board cheered and led on the students. Other members of the board spoke and paid high tributes to Mr. Watson's standing in public life.

SHOULD NOT HUNT WITHOUT LICENSE

Must Have a Hunter's License to Seek Game on Private Property.

75 ISSUED DURING LAST MONTH

The popularity of hunting is well shown by the great number of hunting licenses issued during this season of the year. A man may hunt upon his own farm without a license but as soon as he goes on to another party's property with a gun, he is infringing the laws of the State of Indiana. The law says that the hunter must have a license when hunting game upon private property and if found without one by a game warden is liable to a fine. County Clerk Posey reports that 75 hunting licenses have been sold within the last month.

We Employ Her

The Daily Republican has secured the services of Miss Kathryn Yater, lately of the Vincennes Commercial, to put on a missing word contest, which insures the merchants of this city results in advertising and at a cost not to exceed the regular rates of advertising for a five weeks' period. The one dollar prize given each day will insure the reading of the ads and if the merchant is wise he can offer a special that will bring the customer to the store—the rest is easy.

WAS ONE OF THE ALSO RAN'S

Editor Kaler of Andersonville Lost Out in the Land-Slip.

Frank Kaler, editor of the Andersonville Four County Herald, was here today calling on friends. He went down to defeat in the great Democratic—county option slip—slide in his race for joint representative in Franklin and Union counties, but he takes a happy view of his defeat. Besides publishing a newspaper, Mr. Kaler officiates as a minister with a regular charge.

WOMAN WRITES FOR MISSING HUSBAND

Wandered Away From Home Following an Accidental Blow on the Head.

HIS WIFE LIVES AT TRAFALGAR

Mrs. Belle Dille, of Trafalgar, Indiana, sends the Daily Republican the following, with request to publish along with likeness of the missing man which can be seen here:

"My husband, Eugene Dille, has been missing since July 25. He was injured on the head several years ago and was operated on for pressure of the brain but has since had spells of mental trouble. He always wanders away from home and does not seem to know who he is or where he belongs. Mr. Dille is 39 years of age, 5 feet, 8½ inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, black hair, blue eyes, dark mustache and has a horseshoe-shaped scar on left side of head nearly concealed by hair. He is a man of good education, quiet, steady and a great lover of home. $25 reward will be paid for information that will lead to his whereabouts. If found, detain him and telegraph to us or write if you can give information."

WAS POPULAR WITH THE YOUNG LADIES

Col Jim Worth Makes a Trip to Indianapolis and Females Flock Around Him.

BEFORE HIM FOR INSPECTION

Col. Jim Worth, the diamond studded rainbow chaser of Joplin, Mo., was at the Claypool last week, says the Indianapolis Independent. On a former visit to the Hoosier metropolis, about 500 weak brained and very silly females having the matrimonial fever in its most acute stage, flocked to the Claypool in droves and posed before this cold-blooded nature fakir and submitted to his inspection about as a lot of horses would be inspected by a would-be buyer. Of course, this little man with big diamonds on his shirt front, hadn't the most remote idea of selecting a wife, but wanted notoriety and amusement, and the aggregation of old maids, grass widows and matrimonial misfits was a circus for the colonel and an insufferable nuisance to the hotel proprietor and his guests.

THE WEATHER

Fair tonight and Thursday. Continued cool.

HALL'S PARTNER AT STATE BALL

Is the Question Agitating the Minds of a Number of Rush County Women.

PLAN FOR INAUGURAL BALL

Many From This City Will be Invited—Popularity Contest Has Been Suggested.

Milady of the Democratic household in Rush county is all in a flutter. There are many good times in store for the faithful, but the crowning feature is the big inaugural ball which will occur in Indianapolis the second week in January. It is quite a thing to be a guest at an inaugural ball and little wonder we see some of our smart friends here stepping about with the air of a peacock. Two or three local ladies have already opened negotiations for a dress to wear on the occasion of the ball, and it is understood that a large number from Rushville are fortunate in being promised and assured they would receive invitations.

On account of the lieutenant governor-elect, Hon. Frank J. Hall, living in this city, Rush county will have the lion's share of persons present. In his palmy days—or rather in his younger days, for these are his palmy days—Mr. Hall was the Beau Brummel of polite society in Rushville and it will be like old times for the "Judge" to have a lady fair swinging on his right arm while he struts at the head—or at least directly behind the first couple—to the air of a stirring march.

But who will the lady be? That is the question that is agitating the minds of many local women who aspire for the honored position. Indeed, they are more interested in it than in the final count the "men folks" are talking and making so much about. Why not arrange a popularity contest? The Judge is so good natured that he would probably feign illness rather than give offense in such a matter. If he would make a mistake it would be much worse than a congressional postmaster mis-appointment.

SOCIETY NEWS

The oyster supper given last evening by the Democrat boys at Mrs. Wilson's boarding house was not only enjoyed by the Republican boys but by all the boarders. There were two large tables and covers were laid for eighteen. The centerpieces were beautiful bunches of chrysanthemums. The supper was prepared and served by Mrs. Wilson and her daughters, and if it is true that the proof of the pudding is in the eating, it was delicious for enormous quantities disappeared. The menu was oyster soup, raw oysters, wafers, pickles, cake, ice cream, coffee, candy and cigars. The "bunch" is a very jolly and congenial one and everyone present had an evening abounding with fun and pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Kennedy of Jackson township entertained at turkey dinner today Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Dale and Mrs. Tom J. Geraghty and children of this city.

The Sorosis club was entertained last night at the home of Miss Theresa Madden in North Main street. An elegant three course dinner was served. Miss Margaret Yunker and Miss Anna Geraghty received honors at cards.

EMPEROR HAD NO DEFENDERS

Germany a Unit In Scolding the Kaiser.

HIS LONG TONGUE RESPONSIBLE

Emperor William Never Has Been So Severely Judged by His Parliament as He Was During the Debate in the Reichstag on the Interpellations Concerning the Conversations Recently Published With the Permission of the Emperor in a London Newspaper, Freedom of Speech Going to Astonishing Lengths.

Berlin, Nov. 11.—Emperor William never has been so severely judged by his parliament as he was during the debate in the reichstag on the interpellations concerning the conversations published with the permission of the emperor in the London Daily Telegraph, on Oct. 28. The criticisms of his majesty's court, his ministers and his majesty's treatment of the constitution, as well as of his freedom of speech, went to lengths that astonished observers acquainted with the traditional caution of the chamber in dealing with the personality of the sovereign. And the emperor seemed to have no defenders.

Chancellor Von Buelow made an address lasting fifteen minutes, but he lacked his usual spirit, and a person high in his confidence is authority for the statement that he also had told the emperor that neither himself nor his successors could remain in office unless his majesty was more reserved.

Prince Von Buelow spoke solemnly and without making use of any dramatic effects. The house received his explanation in icy silence, instead of giving it that cordial applause which as a general thing follows the chancellor's fine parliamentary declarations. The Conservatives, representing largely the landed nobility, were almost as relentless as the Socialists, the Radicals and the National Liberals, and the proceedings are regarded by the extreme Liberals as the beginning of a long contest between the crown and parliament that may end in Germany having a ministry responsible to parliament and not to the crown alone.

All Three Will Share.
Boston, Nov. 11.—The proceedings in the contest of the will of Joseph F. Greenough, who died two years ago in Boston, and whose estate, valued at $1,300,000 was claimed by three women, all alleging to be widows of the deceased, have been formally withdrawn in court. It is understood that a compromise was effected, and that while the court declared Martha D. Higgins Greenough, the first wife, to be the lawful wife, all three widows will share in the distribution.

Morse's Petition Denied.
New York, Nov. 11.—The United States circuit court of appeal has refused to order that Charles W. Morse be given liberty on bail pending an appeal from the decision of the circuit court convicting him of making false entries in the books and misapplying the funds of the National Bank of North America.

Despondent Over Election Losses.
Indianapolis, Nov. 11.—Otto Jaeger, thirty-three years old, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. Jaeger was a stock buyer and butcher. He was a warm supporter of William Jennings Bryan and wagered all of his savings, about $200, on his favorite. When he lost he became despondent.

Roosevelt Entertains Sherman.
Washington, Nov. 11.—Vice President-elect James S. Sherman was the guest of President Roosevelt at luncheon today. This evening Mr. Sherman will leave for Hot Springs, Va., where he will confer with President-elect William H. Taft.

Axtell Indicted.
Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 11.—Harry A. Axtell, former city treasurer, has been indicted by the grand jury for embezzling funds of the city of Bloomington. The indictment contains three counts.

"Health Coffee" is the cleverest imitation of real coffee ever yet made. Dr. Shroops created it from pure parched grains, malt, nuts, etc. Fine in flavor—is made in just one minute. No 20 or 30 minutes tedious boiling. Sample free. Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co.

BELLE GUNNESS IS STILL LIVING

This Is the Contention of the Lamphere Defense.

NEW EVIDENCE IN THE CASE

Attorneys for Ray Lamphere on Trial Charged With the Murder of Arch Murderess and Her Three Children Have Produced Another Neighbor Who Declares He Saw the Widow at "Murder Farm" One Night Some Time After the State Contends Her Body Was Destroyed in the Flames Which Consumed Her Home—Still Working on the Jury Today.

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 11.—The trial of Ray Lamphere, charged with having fired the home of Mrs. Belle Gunness, near this city, thereby causing the death of the woman accused of many murders, and her three children, came to an abrupt halt late yesterday afternoon, when the second special venire had been exhausted without a jury having been obtained.

Judge Richter at once ordered a third venire, the members of which were ready for examination this morning. With the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon ten jurymen, accepted by both the state and the defendant's attorneys, were in the jury-box, with fair indications that all of them will remain on the jury as finally accepted.

Yesterday's proceedings, attended by a large crowd which manifested much interest, were prosy, although attorneys for Lamphere brought new life into the case by making public some new evidence in its possession. Fred Lambright, a neighbor of Mrs. Gunness, who claims that one night in July as he was driving to town he saw a man and a woman in a buggy, drawn by a gray horse, drive into the Gunness yard, was a witness for the defense. According to his story, he watched them and heard the woman say: "The money ain't here," after she had jumped out of the rig and walked around the ruins of the burned house. The woman, he alleges, was very much like Mrs. Gunness in appearance, and the voice was similar to that of the alleged murderess. The man he did not recognize. He says he did not tell anybody about the matter at that time because he was afraid of being laughed at. This evidence Attorney Worden states, is to be used to corroborate the story of D. M. Hudson and his two daughters, who will testify that they saw Mrs. Gunness on July 9. Lambright does not fix a date, but the defense declares that it must have been on the 9th.

THE LAST STEP

Final Canvass of Election Returns Being Made Today.

Indianapolis, Nov. 11.—The work of making the final canvass of the recent election returns before the governor began this morning. The canvass is being done in the presence of the secretary of state and his deputy and the representatives of the Democratic state committee.

The work of adding the vote on candidates whose tabulations were not completed Monday came to an end last evening. The last work done was on the vote of reporter of the supreme court, superintendent of public instruction, state statistician and the appellate courts.

George W. Self was re-elected reporter of the supreme court over Burt New by a plurality of 171. New received 339,115, against 330,286 by Self. The final plurality of Robert J. Aleo for state superintendent is 762. J. L. Peetz, Republican candidate for state statistician, received 339,492 votes, against 338,782 by P. J. Kelleher, making Peetz's plurality 710. Q. A. Myers was elected to the supreme court bench over Moses B. Lairy by a plurality of 1,099. Judge David Myers was elected to the appellate bench over Edward W. Felt by a plurality of 1,044.

Game Commissioner's Report.
Indianapolis, Nov. 11.—The biennial report of the commissioner of fisheries and game has been received at the governor's office and will make a most handsome and imposing volume of about 800 pages. It will be distributed through the members of the legislature which have just been elected, and anyone desiring a free copy of this report would better apply at once to their member of the house of representatives or state senator.

Gas Escaped From Tube.
Pendleton, Ind., Nov. 11.—The house occupied by A. P. Hester was wrecked by a natural gas explosion. Mr. Hester was so seriously burned he may die. The explosion occurred when Mr. Hester attempted to light the fire in the kitchen stove. Gas had escaped from a rubber tube.

Ed Ford Arraigned Again.
Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 11.—The second trial of Ed Ford for the murder of Joel and Frank McCoy at a Unionville woodchopping last Thanksgiving, is in progress in the circuit court here. Ford's attorneys will again plead self-defense.

UGHT TO SETTLE IT

President's Spokesman Says Roosevelt Is Not Senatorial Candidate.

Washington, Nov. 11.—"President Roosevelt, six months ago, came to the decision that no combination of circumstances would induce him to become a candidate for election to the United States senate from New York state to succeed Thomas C. Platt," said National Committeeman William L. Ward of New York, as he was leaving the White House. Asked if he thought Secretary Root would be the next senator from New York, Mr. Ward replied by asking: "Would Mr. Root be a candidate?"

Questioned as to the probability of President Roosevelt's being a candidate in 1911 to succeed Senator Chauncey M. Depew, Mr. Ward said the future would take care of itself. He remarked that Governor Hughes, in that year, will have completed his term as governor of New York and with a record of a splendid administration in the state during the coming two years, would make an admirable man for the place. "If you believe in playing futures," said Mr. Ward, "that is a good card to play."

NEW SUITS PREPARED AGAINST STANDARD OIL

Government Will Try Its Hand Again In This Line.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—It is announced in the office of District Attorney Sims that additional suits against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana have been fully prepared, and that trials may be demanded within two weeks. Two of the suits charge rebating in connection with shipments on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, and two in which the Evansville & Terre Haute railroad was the line of shipment. The cases cover about 1,800 counts upon which indictments were returned by federal grand juries.

Cases in which charges of rebating are made in connection with shipments over the Chicago & Alton railroad also are being prepared by the assistants of Mr. Sims, and scores of witnesses in the three cases already have been questioned. The district attorney has not fully decided whether immediate trials would be asked upon the cases or the action of the United States supreme court in reference to the praying of a writ of certiorari would be awaited. It is not anticipated that action will be taken by the supreme court before Dec. 1.

Arbitration the Thing.

Paris, Nov. 11.—The question that has arisen between France and Germany over what has come to be known as the "Casablanca incident," arising out of the arrest by the French authorities of German deserters from the French foreign legion, will be referred to a court of arbitration.

Montana's Thoughtful Gift.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 11.—Chief Justice Theodore Brantley of the supreme court of Montana today presented to the United States cruiser Montana, at the Norfolk navy-yard, in behalf of the people of Montana, a magnificent silver service of thirty-four pieces, valued at $5,000.

FAMILY CARES.

This Information May Be of Value to Many a Mother in Rushville.

When there is added to the many cares inseparable from the rearing of children that affliction of weakness of the kidneys and auxiliary organs, the mother's lot is far from a happy one. This condition can be quickly changed and absolutely cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. When this is known the mother's burden will be lighter and her home happier.

Mrs. Ulysses Beaver, 120 Fifth St. Rushville, Ind., says: "We were very much pleased with our experience in using Doan's Kidney Pills. They were given to our child for a kidney weakness and the relief was prompt. The trouble had caused much anxiety and was of great embarrassment to the child. Nothing that we gave her seemed to bring relief. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, we procured them at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store and they soon cured our daughter of the difficulty. I feel it my duty to advise mothers having children similarly afflicted to try Doan's Kidney Pills."

Charge Alleged Peons Bring Against Rich Company.

MEN THREATENED WITH DEATH

The Government's Charge Against the Florida East Coast Company Reveals a Condition of Alleged Brutality and Lack of Humane Consideration That Is Almost Inconceivable as Having Occurred in America in the Twentieth Century, and a Thorough Investigation of the Conditions Attending Work in That Region Is Promised.

New York, Nov. 11.—What was asserted to be the practical marooning of 3,000 men in the wild regions of Florida and their detention there under hard labor for a period of several months, was dealt with at length before Judge Hough and a jury in the United States circuit court, in the course of the trial of the government's case against employers and agents of the Florida East Coast Railway company for alleged violation of the statute prohibiting "peonage, slavery and enforced servitude." The men under indictment are Francisco Sabia, Edward J. Triay, David E. Harley and Frank A. Hugg.

After a jury had been selected, Deputy Attorney General Glenn Usted outlined the prosecution's case, contending that the treatment accorded the workmen supplied to the Florida East Coast company by the defendants was nothing short of slavery. The government would show, he declared, that in 1905 the men had been induced by alluring advertisements to apply for employment in the South. Everything went well, the attorney said, until the men reached Jersey City, where they were put aboard a train, the doors being locked on them and armed guards set over them to prevent their escape. Throughout the long journey they were given nothing but stale bread and bologna sausage, and when they reached the end of their long journey, many rebelled and refused to leave the train, but a hose was turned on them, and in this manner the entire consignment of human freight had been driven aboard a waiting steamer.

When the ultimate destination was reached, said Mr. Usted, the men found that the paradise that had been promised them was a barren wilderness, overrun with reptiles and venomous snakes, where no place to sleep had been provided for them. Their "high wages," the prosecutor declared, were slips of paper exchangeable at the company's store for shoes and clothing and food. The escape the many sought was impossible, as the region was entirely cut off from all means of communication with the outside world.

Thinking to be discharged, some refused to work. These, Mr. Usted said, were threatened with death and brutally beaten. Finally some were able to smuggle letters through to relatives and in this manner the government had been apprised of the conditions existing.

John B. Stanchfield, attorney for the Florida East Coast company, and personal counsel for Henry M. Flagler, the company's president and principal stockholder, moved that the indictments charging peonage and slavery be dismissed, as the one charge destroyed the other.

Judge Hough was inclined to hold that the charge of peonage could not rest, but declared that he would rule in the matter on any point brought out during the presentation of the evidence.

Few Tariff Changes Wanted.
Washington, Nov. 11.—With few exceptions the interests affected by "Schedule A" of the Dingley tariff, which includes over a hundred articles under the heading of "chemicals, oils and paints," do not desire any change in the rates of duties now operative. This was indicated at the first hearing for the consideration of the revision of the tariff held before the house committee on ways and means in the committee room in the new house of office building. The hearings are preliminary to the taking up of the question at the extra session of congress.

Carmack Funeral Today.
Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 11.—The body of former Senator E. W. Carmack, who was killed in a street duel with Robin J. Cooper, was sent to Columbia yesterday afternoon. The body was at once taken to the Carmack home, where the funeral services were held this morning at 11 o'clock. The tragedy is the absorbing topic in Nashville today and many sensational rumors have circulated.

Steamer Blows Up.
North Bay, Ont., Nov. 11.—The steamer Temiskaming was approaching the landing at Temiskaming at 6 o'clock last evening when the boiler exploded, wrecking the steamer and causing the death of at least five persons by explosion or drowning. Several passengers and crew were hurled into the water by the shock and many are injured.

ROOSEVELT AS EDITOR

President's Connection With the Outlook and His Duties.

WILL DO SPECIAL WORK.

Position to Be "Analogous to That of Consulting Engineer" in an Undertaking Like Panama Canal—Hailed as a World Leader—To Write What He Pleases.

The Outlook, of which the Rev. Lyman Abbott is the editor, recently announced the part that President Roosevelt will have in the conduct of the magazine after he retires from the presidency. This is the statement:

On and after March 5, 1909, Theodore Roosevelt will be associated with the Outlook's editorial staff as special contributing editor.

As the beginning of the nineteenth century was characterized by the movement toward political democracy, so the beginning of the twentieth century has been characterized by a movement toward industrial democracy. In this world movement Theodore Roosevelt has been recognized as a world leader. No one who knows him has believed that his leadership would cease with his retirement from the presidency. We congratulate ourselves and our readers that this leadership, exercised for the last seven years in presidential messages, will be exercised in the future through the columns of the Outlook, which will be the exclusive channel for the expression of his views on political, industrial and social topics.

Mr. Roosevelt will be more than a mere contributor. His headquarters will be at the Outlook's office, and he will be in frequent and, we hope, in constant consultation with its staff. His position will thus be somewhat analogous to that of a consulting engineer who is called in to give the benefit of his expert co-operation to the staff of engineers in charge of a great undertaking like the Panama canal. But the editorial control of the Outlook will remain unchanged. Mr. Roosevelt's contributions, though editorial in their nature, will be signed by his name and will be the absolutely free and unmodified expressions of his personal convictions. We anticipate that on occasions both the interest and the value of the Outlook will be enhanced by frank discussions between this journal and its distinguished associate.

As already announced in these columns, Mr. Roosevelt after retiring from the presidency will sail for Africa, and the reports of his scientific hunting expedition will be published exclusively in Scribner's Magazine. During this period his contributions on questions of the day will necessarily be somewhat restricted. Yet the Outlook will have the benefit of his foresight before he sails and will give to its readers occasional articles from his pen on topics of current interest which will foreshadow his larger editorial activity upon his return to his native land.

"The history of the world," says Hegel, "is none other than the progress of the consciousness of freedom." Ever since his birth in 1870 the Outlook has been endeavoring to interpret current history in the spirit of this definition. We count ourselves very happy in being promised in this work the co-operation of an American so eminent in the essential qualities of leadership as Theodore Roosevelt—high ideals, extraordinary quickness and largeness of vision, the long look ahead, a consistent and progressive political philosophy, practical wisdom in applying the great principles to present and prospective conditions, unfailing good humor, faith in God and in his fellow men and always indomitable and unquestioned courage.

MOUND BUILDERS FANS.

Chicago Professor Says Their Inclosures Were Baseball Fields.

"Baseball is not a modern game, and all credit for the invention of it should go to the mound builders," said Professor Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago in a recent lecture on prehistoric archaeology. Professor Starr declares that through the southern part of Ohio and Indiana he has found geometrically perfect mounds or inclosures closely resembling the modern baseball diamond. These are generally believed to have been built for purposes of protection. Professor Starr, however, says:

"They are nothing more or less than old baseball fields of the mound builders. The game as played by these old people resembled our modern game closely. The most essential difference is that our game calls for only nine players, while in prehistoric times as many as a hundred men were necessary."

Cure For Lovesickness.
In a lecture before the Chicago College of Medicine Dr. A. R. Hagle explained a cure for lovesickness. He said: "A doctor can prepare himself to treat lovesickness through mental influence just as more serious ills are treated by it. One suggestion is to find a new love. This occasionally cures an old love complaint." He commended the theory of Bishop Fallows of mind and medicine working in harmony.

CUBA'S FIRST PRESIDENT.

Dramatic Scene in Tomas Estrada Palma's Career.

In recalling some of the incidents of the life of the late Tomas Estrada Palma, who was the first president of the Cuban republic, Senor Francisco E. Fonseca, who was born and reared in the same province and within a stone's throw of General Palma's home in the province of Santiago, Cuba, said: "The most dramatic scene in General Palma's long struggle for the freedom of Cuba may be said to have occurred after he was taken to Spain as a prisoner in 1867. The usual questions were put to him, among which was:

"What is your profession?" To which he replied, "I am president of the republic of Cuba."

"The reply did not suit the Spanish inquisitors, and they repeated their question with greater vigor, but got the same reply, General Palma retaining his quiet but emphatic manner. He was so intense that his questioners became excited and threatened the most severe punishment unless General Palma became more plastic, but even this did not disturb him, for he replied in the same way, adding: 'That is my occupation, and my only one at present and so long as my people care to confide this trust in me. If you reject my plea, then I must go to an honorable exile or such other punishment as you determine upon or dishonorably impose.'

"And for this he was imprisoned, not to die, however, but later to become the president of the republic of Cuba through the loyal support of the United States.

"But President Palma was also a man of the deepest and tenderest feeling. One of the most touching things I ever heard of about any one was in relation to his mother, who died from the tortures visited upon her by the Spaniards back in 1878. General Palma had returned from the Spanish prison and naturally started to see his aged parent. Upon arriving at Bayamo he was conducted to the pen where his mother had been confined by Spanish orders, but to see only her body, for she had died a few hours before. Stopping down to kiss her cheek, he saw in her hand a handkerchief, and he took it, kissed it and put it carefully away in his bosom. He carried that handkerchief always after that day. He was once asked for it to be placed on exhibition, but remarked, 'No; the memory of my mother is too sacred to think of parting with such a dear memento.'"

PAYING AN ELECTION BET.

One of the first of freak election bets to be paid was settled the other morning in New York by Miss Della Connor, a dancer in "Marcelle," at the Casino theater, much to the amusement of Broadway pedestrians in general and a host of small boys. Miss Connor bet a friend in the theater that Bryan would be elected. In the event of losing the wager she agreed to walk around the Casino theater in a barrel.

At 10:30 Miss Connor emerged from the front door of the playhouse, shoes, ankles, shoulders, arms, head and a mammoth picture hat in sight and wildly clutching at the sides of a sugar barrel. She found it impossible to hold up her "gown" and navigate, so her initial effort was declared a false start, and David Bennett, her husband, and the stage manager came to her rescue.

Bennett led his wife inside the theater, took off his suspenders and nailed them to the barrel. When Miss Connor again appeared the barrel hung from her shoulders gracefully.

Thus sheathed she made the circuit of the block to the stage door, followed by a delighted though critical audience.

UNIQUE $5 GOLD PIECES.

Design Depressed in New Coinage Instead of Raised.

The mints at Philadelphia, San Francisco and Denver recently began coining a new five dollar gold piece struck on a different plan from any heretofore coined in the world. It follows an idea expressed to President Roosevelt by Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow of Boston that to permit the coins being piled to a uniform height a high or strong relief might be obtained by depressing the design below the field or face of the coin instead of raising it above, as usual in all coining operations.

This would provide a flat field and a uniform thickness, the flat surface taking the wear and protecting the relief, the shape of the depression following the outline of the relief. The same design will be used on the $2.50 pieces, and all will bear "In God We Trust."

While never applied to coins, the countersinking relief is one of the oldest forms of sculpture in stone.

Elkins and the Snaphotter.
Friends of Senator Stephen B. Elkins say he is disgusted with the widespread discussion of the proposed marriage of his daughter Katherine and the Duke of the Abruzzi.

"Why, I have no privacy any more even in my own grounds," the senator complained to a business associate. "The other day I was chased all over my place by a photographer, and he finally corralled me in the chicken coop. I am tired of this sort of thing, and it has got to stop."

TO STUDY OUR CLAYS

General Investigation to Be Made by Experts.

LITTLE KNOWN ON SUBJECT.

Work Undertaken at Request of Federal Officials in Charge of Construction Work—Many Manufacturing Failures Due to Wrong Selection of Clay Deposits.

At the request of federal officials in charge of the construction work of the government, which now amounts to more than $40,000,000 annually, the United States geological survey, through its technologic branch, has taken up a general investigation of the clays and clay products of the United States. A ceramic section has been created, with A. V. Bleininger of Champaign, Ill., as ceramic chemist.

Government engineers, startled at the enormous losses from fire in the United States and the consequent destruction of valuable natural resources, have been endeavoring for some time to learn more about the fire resisting qualities of structural materials, not only to stop the present waste, but also to preserve, if possible, the waning timber supply. It was for this reason that the government a few years ago took up a scientific study of concrete, which is now being used extensively in government construction work.

Clay products, such as hollow tile, fireproofing, terra cotta, enameled brick and glazed tile, play an important part in modern fireproof buildings, and these are to be tested for the different construction purposes of the government. This will insure the highest quality of ware obtainable in the industry for the government buildings. A series of tests will also be conducted with bricks in order that a standard may be arrived at for the use of the engineers in the future.

Mr. Bleininger, the clay expert, is one of the leading authorities in his line in the United States. In outlining his work he said: "The coming tests, although conducted to meet the needs of the government, will be of great value to the engineering profession and the public, for the results will be obtainable by any one sufficiently interested to ask for them."

"An important phase of the work will be the determining of a standard for a good brick. We shall study the relation between the crushing strength of commercial bricks and their porosity, the object being the establishing of a technical definition for a good building brick, thus enabling engineers and builders to reject poor materials and encouraging the manufacturers of well made and burnt bricks. At the present time we do not know the difference between a good and a bad brick. Another feature of the work will consist in evolving standard tests of clays for the purpose of determining the use to which they are best suited, thus assisting in the development of the clay resources of the country and avoiding the great money losses caused by ill advised investments in low grade clay properties. An examination of many failures of new clay enterprises may frequently be traced back to a mistake made in the selection of the clay deposit.

"Strange as it may seem, we do not fully understand such familiar properties as the plasticity of clay. Neither is the nature of the various grades of clay clearly understood. Another phase of the work deals with the general manufacturing problem. I might mention the important question of 'white-wash' appearing on brick walls, a difficulty causing serious annoyance and loss to manufacturers and users of bricks by marring the beauty of many structures.

"The clay industry is one of the most important in the country. Last year the value of such products amounted to $149,697,000, a gain of 14 per cent over the previous year. We are slowly realizing that it is not necessary to import clay or clay products from Europe. An American manufacturer has demonstrated that he can make as fine china and porcelain as any one in the world. We import the finer grades of glass, but this is unnecessary. We have the silicates here. The best cut glass in the world is made in the United States."

Professor Newcombe on Aviation.
Professor Simon Newcomb, astronomer, has interesting views with respect to the problems of aviation. He rules out the possible use of a dirigible balloon for any more serious military purpose than scouting. With respect to the dirigible, such as is employed by the Germans, he has little faith. He says the problem of air flight is not so much to be stopped in mid-air as to be kept from being yet built by human skill, much less the delicate motor necessary in the flier, can be guaranteed against accident." The conclusion of this scientist is that aerial navigation must ever remain "uncertain, dangerous, expensive and inefficient."

Cutting of the Cullinan Diamond.
The cutting of the Cullinan diamond, which cost $50,000, is now complete, says a cable dispatch from Amsterdam. The stone has been divided into seven parts, exclusive of the big one, which will go by the name of Cullinan. Six of these small stones are being made into a necklace, with the seventh, which is somewhat larger, as a pendant, and will be presented by the king to Queen Alexandra.

GIRL'S STRANGE STORY

Implicates Priest in Plot That Led to Murder.

Rutland, Vt., Nov. 11.—Interesting evidence was given by Lena Black, a seventeen-year-old girl, at the trial of Rev. Father Francis Crociata, former pastor of the Italian church here, who is accused of being an accessory to the murder of Accorito Santoro, who was stabbed to death near this city July 22. Miss Black testified that Father Crociata told her that she must go out with one Giovanni Gloda on the night of July 22, and entice Santoro, who had been a suitor, to a bridge, where other Italians, two of whom are now serving sentence for the murder, were to strip Santoro of his clothing and shame him so that he would molest the girl no longer. The priest told her, she said, that it would not only be right, but an honor for her to go because Santoro was ruining her character. After Santoro had resisted the attempts of his assailants to disrobe him, and was killed in the melee, the girl said, the priest cautioned her to say nothing of what had occurred. The trial is unfinished.

DELEGATES UNSEATED

Flint Glass Blowers Barred From Federation of Labor.

Denver, Nov. 11.—The first real fight in the twenty-eighth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor occurred on the report of the credentials committee and resulted in the unseating of the delegates of the Flint Glass Workers by a practically unanimous vote. For many years the flint glass workers were members of the federation, but withdrew on account of a controversy growing out of a question of jurisdiction with the Glass Bottle Blowers' association. Having seceded from the federation, the Flint Glass Workers' association cannot be restored to membership, according to the constitution, while it is in controversy over jurisdiction with an organization belonging to the federation.

T. H. Rowe, president of the Flint Glass Workers' association, protested that the enforcement of the letter of the constitution against him and his comrades was equivalent to "government by injunction."

Stepped in Front of Auto.
St. Louis, Nov. 11.—Dr. David DeCamp Thompson of Chicago, author and editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate, is dead from being struck by an automobile. He was here to attend the Methodist mission conference. The machine was driven by Frank White, who saw the minister standing on the curb and thought he would remain there until the automobile passed. Just as he neared the crossing Dr. Thompson stepped from the sidewalk in front of the car and was knocked down by the machine.

New Election May Be Called.
St. Johns, N. F., Nov. 11.—Complete returns from the general elections of Nov. 2 show that Sir Robert Bond, the premier, and Sir Edward Morris, the leader of the opposition forces, will each have eighteen supporters in the legislature. The situation is the most unique in Newfoundland political records and may be settled only by the ordering of another general election.

Death Valley Being Shaken Up.
San Bernardino, Cal., Nov. 11.—Death valley and the surrounding country are in the throes of a series of earthquakes which began three weeks ago and the most violent of which occurred last Wednesday morning before daylight, carrying consternation among the mining camps and resulting in many miners and prospectors fleeing from the district.

Arms Shipped Under False Bills.
Calcutta, Nov. 11.—In the course of a trial at Miranapur, Bengal, in connection with a discovery of arms and explosives, a police informer testified that one of the accused had told him that many cases of rifles and revolvers had been shipped from America to Bombay under the guise of sewing machines and cotton goods.

Business enterprises can proceed on the surest foundation, which is public confidence.

Col. Waterson is trying to explain the November inscrutability of the June inevitableness.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Among the wreckage of the campaign there is nothing more striking than the difference between the votes Mr. Gompers delivered and those he thought he controlled.

At last the hankering of the American heiress for a title is explained. A theosophical spellbinder, who of course knows all about it, says it's because she had royal affiliations in a previous incarnation. Now who can beat this for an explanation?

Mrs. Hettie Green, the richest woman in the world, now comes forward to lay the blame for the hard times on women. She says that we live too fast and that Americans are a nation of spendthrifts. Her excursion into the fashionable life, though apparently brief, seems to have made her very pessimistic. It is to be hoped she is not going to join the ranks of the disgruntled millionaires who are writing of the dreadful goings-on in society.

With the exception of a few western States where women suffrage prevails woman's political rights are more advanced in England than in this country. For years they have been eligible to serve on parish and country councils and, with certain requirements of condition and property, they have for many years voted at municipal elections. And now a lady has just been elected mayor of a city of 13,000 by the largest majority ever given a mayoralty candidate.

The Chinese Hoe.

The Chinese farmer stands second to none in all the world. This is all the more remarkable since he has really so few implements with which to work the marvels he produces. His only implements are the hoe, the plow and the harrow. Beyond these the Chinese farmer never dreams of desiring any other. The first of these tools seems never to be out of his hands, for it is the one upon which he relies the most and is his most effective implement. It really takes the place of the spade in England, though the latter is never put to such extensive and general uses as the hoe. The Chinaman can do anything with it but make it speak. A farmer well on in years can easily be recognized amidst a number of workmen by the curve his hands have taken from holding the hoe in the many years of toil in his fields. With it, if he is a poor man and has no oxen to plow the ground, he turns up the soil where he is going to plant his crops, and with it he deftly and with a turn of his wrist levels out the surface so that it is made ready for the seed. With a broad bladed hoe he dips to the bottom of a stream or of a pond, draws up the soft mud that has gathered there and, with a dexterous swing, flings the dripping hoeful on to his field nearby to increase its richness by this new deposit.—London King.

Extract of Knowledge.

An article on "Examination Humor" in a periodical called Normal Echoes contains some good "howlers." They are none the less interesting for coming from students in training for teachers. A criticism of William Blake that "as a child he was precocious in poetry, but in later years it developed into dogmatism," is a lesson in the art of being inarticulate, while the remark that "the works of the time were mostly satyrs" is quaint, though obvious. Of course there is bogging over proper names. There is nothing, indeed, so good as the description of Cromwell as "a man with coarse features and having a large red nose, with deep religious convictions beneath," or the case of the "lapsed man" who, having by way of exception attended church, admitted to the rector's wife that he had benefited, for he had learned that Sodom and Gomorrah were two cities, whereas he had always thought they were man and wife.—Manchester Guardian.

RESUKE.

THE world is old and the world is cold.
And never a day is fair, I said.
Out of the heavens the sunlight rolled.
The green leaves rustled above my head,
And the sea was a sea of gold.

THE world is cruel, I said again.
Her voice is harsh to my shrinking ear.
And the nights are dreary and full of pain.
Out of the darkness sweet and clear
There rippled a tender strain—

RIPPLED the song of a bird asleep
That sang in a dream of the budding wood.
Of shining fields where the reapers reap.
Of a wee brown mate and a nestling brood
And the grass where the berries peep.

THE world is false though the world is fair.
And never a heart is pure, I said.
And, lo, the clinging of white arms bare.
The innocent gold of my baby's head
And the lip of a childish prayer.
—Ina Donna Coolbrith.

GRACE BEFORE DINNER.

THOU, who kindly dost provide
For every creature's want,
We bless thee, God of nature wide,
For all thy goodness lent.

AND, if it please thee, heavenly guide,
May never worse be sent.
But, whether granted or denied,
Lord, bless us with content.
—Robert Burns.

CURRENT COMMENT

A Boom in Shipbuilding.

Reports from the big shipyards of Scotland state that the marked decline in shipbuilding noted for a year past has abated and that orders for new ships have come to hand in such numbers as to portend a speedy revival of the industry. A similar awakening has been felt in Germany and France, and the depression of the early months of the year has given way to cheer.

A ship shortage would be a great drawback to international trade. Rec ord crops make more bulk to haul regardless of the market selling price, and if any great country suffers from poor crops the tonnage of the sea is increased. It is in the nature of things that the ocean carrying trade must grow so long as the world is at peace, and it is a sign of confidence that ship-owners are now willing to branch out in the face of the general commercial reaction.

After nine years' coaching China is to have a constitution in 1917. The first steps will be fusion of existing local governments, financial and army reforms, with elections the second year, school and tax problems the third year, and so on. About 1925 the "up-lift in rural districts" will be due to arrive, and by that time the United States will be able to give Chinese statesmen some pointers.

It is significant perhaps that, following the series of accidents to balloons and aeroplanes, a revival of old fashioned shipbuilding was reported in the great yards of the world.

Judging from the revelations at the Morse trial in New York, the prosperity feature of the "prosperity panic" we've heard about was prosperity for rascals.

Teaching "farming by mail" will work all right up to the point of explaining the business end of onion sets and seed potatoes.

Uncle Sam has plenty of "balkin'" right at home and doesn't need to work in Europe's continuous dispute as a side line.

General Apathy proved to be the kind of a soldier who is "missing" at roll call when the battle opens.

Winning "at a walk" doesn't always prove up the easy job it looks from the starter's post.

Hens That Should Be Busy.

If that momentous question, the cost of keeping a hen, had been settled, there would be no trouble in getting at the importance of the hen bulletin recently issued from Washington. The bulletin says that there are 233,598,005 hens of "laying age" in the United States. As the hen is an "onstable critter" in her ways, maybe the odd five have died or struck for more rations since the bulletin went to press. Again it may be that 995 youngsters have started work ahead of time and the figures should look a thousand better.

The laying hens are valued at $70,000,000. That's an investment in eggs, the annual crop of which seems to be worth about $200,000,000 as eggs have been selling. If the cost of the keep is reasonable we should include the hen among the national resources or features of country life worth looking after by the president's commissioners.

Father Met Them With Gun.

Troy, Ala., Nov. 11.—News has been received here of the serious wounding of W. W. White, near Banks, by Mr. Wadley, a farmer. White eloped with Miss Maud Wadley, the couple coming to Troy to secure a license and marry. After the ceremony, the couple started home and were met on the road by the father of the girl, who emptied the contents of a shot gun into the bridegroom. White will recover.

World Peace Fast Becoming a Reality.

By Lady HENRY SOMERSET, English Reformer.

AMONG perhaps the most hopeful signs of progress at the present time is the fact that, while we are learning, and justly so, to place an ever increasing value on the development of the individual, we are learning at the same time that IN CO-OPERATION LIES THE SECRET OF POWER, and the basis of this co-operation is becoming worldwide.

We are no longer content, nor is it possible to be so, with the advance of our own nation.

THE INTERNATIONAL IDEAL IS FAST BECOMING REALIZED.

There have been held recently no less than three international congresses—at Berlin that of the interparliamentary union, in London the first moral education international congress and at Oxford the international congress of religions.

At the first named Prince von Bulow said in part, "Love of peace cannot signify lack of patriotism."

THOSE ARE PATRIOTS WHO STRIVE TO PREVENT CONFLICTS BY COMBATING IGNORANCE, WHICH IS ALWAYS MISCHIEVOUS; RANCOR, WHICH IS SO UNWHOLESOME; HATRED, WHICH IS OFTEN BLIND, AND AMBITIONS, WHICH ARE SOMETIMES MISGUIDED.

IN ACTING THUS YOU ARE PERFORMING AN ACT OF PATRIOTISM—A PATRIOTISM WHICH CLEARS THE AIR, REMOVES OBSTACLES AND SO RENDERS MORE SMOOTH THE MARCH OF HUMANITY TOWARD THE COMMON IDEAL OF ALL AGES AND ALL PEOPLES.

Side by side with students who are discussing the origin and the evolution of man's beliefs are those who are facing the problems of the daily needs of our future citizens.

We must leave these antiquities to antiquarians. They may trace the degrees by which "man has made his gods," but the revelation is forced upon us that GOD HAS BEEN AND IS STILL MAKING MAN AND WORKING SLOWLY, BUT SURELY, TOWARD THE FEDERATION OF THE WORLD.

New York Fashion Letter

BY CATHERINE MANN-PAYZANT.

That the plain tailored waists will continue to be worn during the winter is evidenced by the many designs that are exhibited on all sides.

While there is little new in the designs, the materials must match the skirt or suit with which it will be worn. Such fabrics as satin-faced silks, mousselines, satins and nets are used both for the plain and dressy wear. In the former case the waist is finished in tailored style with a plain collar and tie, and when used for dressy wear the waist will be much trimmed, often with the material in the skirt.

A pretty costume was developed from olive green crepe de chine, while the waist exactly matches it in color but it is of net over silk, a cream lace yoke and under sleeves is used.

A colored suit could have a waist plainly made with the collar, front piece and cuffs embroidered in self-colored polka dots.

Often a note of color is introduced by using a bright colored piping to edge the tucks in the waist, cuffs and collar. Plaids are also used for straps, cut on the bias and finished with fine machine stitching. Odd-shaped and often costly buttons are used to decorate the new waists.

For general wear the plain tailored waists of net as well as those of satin and fine wash materials are given a preference over the long-sleeved lingerie effects, which seem to be more and more pushed into evening or home wear.

The full-length sleeve is more and more used on all styles of waists, those for general wear being in plain tailored style and finished with a narrow stiff cuff, and those of the more dressy order in long tight-fitting Directoire style, either finished with a deep point over the hand or with a grill of lace straight around.

The dull brown that border on grey, or greys that have a tint of brown in them are extremely well liked. Beige and brown are leaders in millinery and in different tints are known as Vandyke, rust-cedar, forest and saffron; and in furs we find sable, mink, marten and beaver the favorites, which are also liked for hat trimmings as well.

The fur turban or toque will be a favorite this winter. Sometimes it will be a combination of fur and velvet. While the fur hat in the first instance may be an expensive affair, they need only a very small amount of trimming. All that is needed is a torsade and a graceful bow of velvet or satin ribbon ornament caught down with a fancy pin, a pair of winks or a sheaf of quills. Sometimes flowers are used but on the whole feathers seem to be the most appropriate trimming.

Nothing will renew the life of an old dark hat of straw as a bright wing or a touch of bright color.

Black and all dark shades are the characteristic features of this autumn's colors, but in nearly every case, a note of bright color is introduced.

Many strange colors are sought for which though they go under the name of old familiar tints, they appear very unfamiliar to the eye.

Hats in reality too light in texture and color for wear with the autumn suit for autumn days are often made harmonious by the addition of a silk or satin under-facing and a good deal of trimming in a dark shade.

With the smart cloth tailor costume, an all silk hat trimmed with quills or ostrich plumes is bound to look exceptionally well. Satin hats are much worn at this time of the year and are quite as popular as the silk hat and will be worn all winter.

Hats fit down well upon the head and the drooping brim is still fashionable, as well as wings and quills. Ostrich features are again in use and in all lengths, but the matter of application is a change to that used during the summer and is the mark distinctive of the new autumn hat.

The belt or girdle is a salient feature of all the more dressy waists. Many of the new girdles are made of broad ribbon and finished with fringe or tassels. The sash is brought around the waist, crossed in the back and brought around to the left side where it is knotted several inches below the hip line. Others are in girdle style with sash ends falling from a rosette.

A pretty costume for morning wear around the house consists of a skirt of mohair or serge cut with eleven gores and a front panel which closes on the left side. The tailored waist is of cream shirting striped with the skirt color and trimmed with straps of the material and large buttons.

WILL SEND BOOKS OVER THE STATE

Traveling Library Work Has Many

Advantages—Explained in Detail by Commission.

ONLY EXPENSE IS EXPRESS

There Are 71,000 Books in the Traveling Library Department Loaned Throughout the State.

One of the popular features of the Public Library Commission's work in Indiana is the loaning of the best fiction, history, travel and children's books free of charge to the people. For nine years these books have been sent to every section of the State, but there are many people who are still unaware of the free reading privileges they might have for the asking.

The only expense connected with the books is the prepaid round trip express rates. They are sent to any localities in the State for three months and may be retained for another three without extra expense. The libraries containing forty volumes are loaned to granges, reading circles, schools, Sunday schools, stores, clubs and into farm homes. The books consist of histories, biographies, agricultural books, volumes on finance, sociology, religion and others. With these are volumes of fiction, both standard and current, also a collection of carefully selected books of a like general nature for the young people which are read as largely by the adult members of the family. The commission sends out collections of fourteen to sixteen books for use in the study clubs and schools. There are nature study collections, domestic science, Shakespeare, Browning and Tennyson collections, libraries on the history, literature and art of the various countries, music, collections relating to the study of the Bible and others.

Finding Lists are furnished on application so that the selections may be made from the different libraries.

The books will be loaned to any locality where five or more citizens will fill out the application blank sent to them by the Public Library Commission office, room 58, State House, Indianapolis.

Stereoscopic views on the United States, Great Britain, Russia, Japan, China, Germany, France, also folios of pictures on Europe, Asia, Africa, Central America, Canada, animals and birds, famous gardens, etc.

Letters are received from all parts of the State expressing gratitude for the books in the homes and schools.

There are 71,000 books in the Traveling Library department loaned throughout the State.

The Library Commission wishes to urge upon you the value of these books which in many instances means having the use of forty books for ten per cent of the cost of one. If you are not interested for yourself endeavor to interest your neighbor and the young people of the locality. The Traveling Library department receives its appropriation for this work from the State and is therefore supported by the taxpayers. Why should not each one receive the benefits of the educational feature of State work he is helping to maintain?

BIRTHDAY OF KING.

Rome, Nov. 11.—Thirty-nine years ago today a son was born to Humbert, second king of United Italy. Throughout the nation there was great rejoicing, and the spirit that was manifested then is being repeated today on the occasion of the anniversary of the birth of he who is now Victor Emanuel III., Italy's beloved and wise ruler. All day congratulatory messages poured in upon His Majesty, and he was the recipient of many valuable and handsome gifts from all the royal families of Europe.

Victor Emanuel was the only son of Humbert I., and succeeded to the throne upon the tragic death of his royal father, who was assassinated by the Anarchist Bresci at Monza, July 29, 1900. He married, in 1896, Princess Helene, daughter of Nicholas, Prince of Montenegro, and has four children. Prince Humbert, the heir apparent, was born September 15, 1904. The Duke of Abruzzi, who has been in the limelight of late owing to his reported engagement to Miss Elkins, an American heiress, is a son of the late Prince Amadeus, who was an uncle of King Victor Emmanuel.

CROKER IS COMING

New York, Nov. 11.—According to advices from Dublin, Richard Croker, the former Tammany chieftain, will sail in a few days for an extended visit to America. It is stated that Mr. Croker will stay at least two months, and will take advantage of the opportunity to travel far and wide over the country where he achieved his fame.

After a week or two in New York, the ex-Tammany leader will go to Florida. He will then travel through the South, and his journey may extend as far westward as Los Angeles and San Francisco. Later he will visit Nassau, in the West Indies.

Will be the Missing Word Contest for Readers, Advertisers, Newspaper and Our City.

TIMELY HOLIDAY PROPOSITION

The missing word contest, which will be put on by the Republican, will be started in a day or two. The merchants who have not already taken space are urged to fall in line tomorrow as that will probably be their last opportunity. The number of advertisements already secured is very gratifying, but there is still room for a few more. This special advertising is too good a thing for any enterprising merchant to pass up, for during the five weeks the contest will run it will be read by thousands of persons anxious to secure the dollar for guessing the missing word. In order to give the country people an opportunity to figure in the contest and to give the merchants the benefit of reading their advertisements the Republican will receive guesses on the missing words two days later, thus giving one whole day in which to get their guess into the Republican office. Remember you can earn $30 between now and Christmas, by simply guessing the missing words and, furthermore, the merchants are going to offer you bargains and in many instances special prices that will save you dollars on your Christmas shopping. Don't only look for the missing words but look for the bargains these progressive merchants will offer.

Lady Betty Across the Water

By C. N. & A. M. WILLIAMSON * COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

"In what you call 'being in love,' a girl fancies a man for his eyes, or his dancing, or because he is strong, and she thinks she's in love with him, but it's only a fancy which passes before she's been his wife for twelve months, and she wonders what she ever saw in him then. A year after you have been married to my brother, you will be very fond of him, and you will be one of the most important young women in America as well as in Europe. Oh, my dear, you will have to take him. Your mother will never forgive you if you don't. It was quite an understood thing between us when she lent you to me that if possible there was to be a match. Your beauty and name, and Potter's money. He's really a very good fellow—a temper, perhaps, but I wouldn't give much for a man with out one, and, like most Americans, he'll make a splendid husband."

"For some one," I murmured.

"For you, Betty. I assure you, I daren't tell the duchess you've definitely refused Potter. You must be persuaded. Be engaged to him. Let him follow you to England."

"If I did that I should find myself being married off to him before I knew."

"Well, and if you did? It would be because you'd had the chance to change your mind."

I shook my head. "I must go home to England," I said, "but Mr. Parker mustn't follow me."

Mrs. Ess Kay's face hardened.

"I'm afraid if you go home after refusing Potter you'll have a very poor welcome, my child. The duchess has been kind enough to take me a little into her confidence. I don't think she would have sent you over with me if she hadn't known something about Potter, and your sister's affairs aren't arranged yet. Oh, you needn't blush and look so indignant. The duchess didn't mind putting her difficulties in a letter when I wrote her you weren't behaving quite satisfactorily, and you may take it from me that at present things stand like this—you must go back an engaged girl or else stay away until Lady Victoria is married."

If mother were different I should have hoped Mrs. Ess Kay was exaggerating, but as it was I believed her, though I did my best to be high eyed and incredulous till she remarked that I could see the duchess' letter if I liked, though it might be rather embarrassing.

I was sure it would be and preferred to take its contents on faith, but I was so miserable that I had to keep my eyes staring wide open to prevent the tears dropping down. I was tired and forlorn and homesick—for Vic and Stan and the dear dogs and everything

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys, like the heart, and the stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is cloudy, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell.

Dr. Shoop's

except mother—and I felt such a horrible weakness creeping over me that I could even imagine myself by and by doing what they meant me to do. I thought the best thing was to gain a respite lest Mrs. Ess Kay should drag some kind of a concession from me which I would have to live up to afterward.

"I can't talk any more about it now," I said. "I believe what you say, but it only makes it worse for me to think that mother should have made what amounts to a kind of bargain with you. Maybe by tomorrow everything won't seem so dreadful."

She got up with a relieved air. Perhaps even she hadn't been enjoying the conversation.

"Of course it won't," said she. "It won't seem dreadful at all. You've no idea how happy we're all going to be. Now, just you sleep well and dream sweet dreams and you'll wake up feeling a different girl. Maybe poor Potter hasn't been as tactful as he might be. That's because he's too much in love to be clever. But he has a lovely surprise for you tomorrow. Something connected with a certain finger of your left hand. I promise you that you'll like it. And now I'm going to leave you in peace for the night."

I can't tell what savage deed I might not have been capable of doing if she had had the idea of kissing me, but she hadn't. She merely patted me on the shoulder and went out, leaving me to stare aimlessly at the door after she had softly closed it.

Chapter 13

I DON'T know how long it was before the thought came to me that I would take Vivace and a handbag and run away to Sally, but anyway it was before it had occurred to me to sit down.

Sally said before she went away that I was to go to her if I felt like it, and Sally always means what she says. Now I felt like it so much that it seemed suddenly the only possible thing to do, so all I had to decide was the best way and the best time to do it.

As for the time, if I didn't escape before Mrs. Ess Kay and Potter formed a hollow square round me to pour their volleys into my heart in the morn all that was prophetic in my soul said I would never escape, but would suffer great confusion and rout.

As for the way, it was more difficult to make up my mind, but the first thing was to see how much money I had in my exchequer, which happened to be a gold purse Sally had given me. I hadn't spent much, and since coming over dear old Stan had sent me another fifteen pounds, which he wrote was part of one night's winnings at bridge—unusual for him. If it's true as Vic thinks that he continually loses. Altogether I had nearly thirty pounds in hand, which seemed a lot, only I didn't know at all how much it would cost for Vivace and me to reach Sally in Chicago, and I couldn't tell until I had got irrevocably away from Mrs. Ess Kay and the Moorings.

By this time it was nearly 2 o'clock, and in a couple of hours it would be light. I must sneak out of the house with a dressing bag before any of the servants were stirring, and meanwhile I must pack up all my belongings except such things as Mrs. Ess Kay had given me—so that I could write and have my boxes sent on by and by.

As soon as I had realized that there wasn't a minute to throw away, the worse was over, for I didn't stop to grizzle. I finished getting out of my bridesmaid's dress in which I had danced so gayly a little while ago, dashed a thin frock, a dressing gown and a few other things into my fitted dressing bag (which was almost too heavy to carry, but not quite), and then stuffed everything else, except a traveling frock, into the boxes that were stored in a huge wardrobe built into the wall.

I made all the haste I could, but I'm not clever at packing, so I heard some clock striking 4, when I had slipped on my thin gray canvas coat and skirt, and was putting on my hat, with cold hands that trembled so much I could hardly stick in the hatpins.

I had been excited enough the day I heard I was to come to Mrs. Ess

Each step, Vivace and I took in the corridors and on the stairs seemed to make such an incredible noise in the quiet house that I felt like a runaway elephant eloping with a hippopotamus, but either it wasn't as bad as I thought or every one was lying charmed in a magic sleep, for we got out through a window in the dining room, down the veranda steps and across the lawn without being stopped, as I half expected.

I knew the way to the railway station very well, for I had often been there since I arrived (the last time was when I saw Sally off), but the question was, When would there be a train? And a good deal depended on that question, for, though Mrs. Ess Kay and Potter might not exactly have the power to drag me back, I wanted to get as far away from them as I could before they discovered that I had gone.

I was horrified to find when we arrived that, as the Americans say, there was "nothing doing." Not a soul in sight, and there I was, very hot and hysterical, with Vivace and my dressing bag looking like an escaped burglar. I had been so nervous while I was packing that I'd been afraid of everything, even the soap in the soap dish, which had two great blinking bubbles at one end, like a pair of goblin eyes that watched me move, but I was much worse now, and I could have fallen on the neck of the first official person I saw moving about the station after I had waited for perhaps a quarter of an hour. I don't know what he was, but when I appealed to him for news of a train for New York, instead of calling the police to give Vivace and me in charge as a dangerous pair, he scratched his head and said there was a milk train due presently if I was mighty anxious.

A milk train sounded innocent and suitable to a girl travelling alone, but even if it hadn't I should have been thankful to go in it. I couldn't buy a ticket, it appeared, in the ordinary way, but when the milk train came my man introduced me to another. Perhaps he was a milkman; anyway he seemed to have authority and he said as a favor Vivace and I could be taken. He was a nice person, and he talked a great deal after the train had given several false starts and at last had got off. I sat on my bag, as I had on the docks, in a bare, curious car, which really belonged to the milk, and sometimes when we bumped I should have fallen on the floor if it hadn't been for him. He told me all about himself, and wanted to be told all about me, but I thought, nice as he was, it would be safer not. He asked leading questions which it was hard to keep from answering unless I hurt his feelings, but I think he somehow got the impression that I was going to see a sick relative, though I never exactly said so.

I don't know what time I should have got to New York if I had had to travel all the way with the milk, for milk, it seems, objects to speed, but after we had jogged along for a couple of hours, we crawled into a station where a real train was ready to start. There were just five minutes to say farewell to my friend and buy a ticket, when, all flushed and panting, I found myself and Vivace and the bag in a car different from any I had seen yet. It had no nice easy chairs and plate glass mirrors and wire nettings in the windows, like the one in which I'd traveled to Newport, but there were two rows of seats, and when the train moved a cloud of coal smoke poured in through the door at the front end. Babies squalled, children whined and their faces grew black and damp with mingled dirt and heat while grownup people scolded, but a dear old lady got into my seat before long, and just because I helped her with a handbox, she made me a present of a huge peach. I was thankful to have it, for by this time I was collapsing with hunger, having been up all night without anything to eat.

Blunders of the Types.

Ever since the introduction of typesetting errors, weird or comical, have emanated from printers' offices. The mistakes are not always to be shouldered on to the compositor, for bad handwriting must be taken into account. Here are a few instances of actual blunders collected by a proof-reader in the course of his daily work:

"His blushing bride" was transformed into "his blustering bride."

A major was stated to have "served with destruction in the army." The writer thought he used the word "distinction."

"The Galley I Love" was the description of a picture entitled "The Galley Slave."

Speaking of theatrical folk, a critic wrote that "nearly all have husbands or wives." The paragraph printed read "hundreds of wives."

"They sailed for three days around the cape and finally slaughtered a small Italian" should have been "sighted a small island."

One more in conclusion. "He takes delight in talking on his family shame" was a shameful thing to say when "favorite theme" was meant.

A Three Legged Bison.

In 1837 Small Eyes, a Blackfoot who had come down from the north and joined the Arapahoes and lived with them, told Black Kettle, a Cheyenne in George Bent's lodge, about having killed, between the Cimarron and Beaver creek, a tributary of the north fork of the Canadian, a buffalo bull which had only one hind leg. According to Small Eyes' story, it did not appear that the bull had lost one of its hind legs, but rather that it never had more than one. The hind leg was very large, seemed to be in the middle of the body instead of at one side, and there was no sign of any missing leg. It looked as if the two hind legs which the buffalo ordinarily has had in some way fused together.

The war party with which Small Eyes was traveling was passing along near a hollow when the bull came up out of it, and some of the men ran ahead, got around it and shot it with a gun. It was not able to run fast, but rather hobbled along.—Forest and Stream.

PIGEON PHOTOGRAPHS.

German Apothecary Trains the Birds to Take Pictures.

Dr. Neubronner, court apothecary to Emperor William of Germany, has been experimenting for years with carrier pigeons, putting these birds to many uses not intended by nature.

His latest invention, which the patent office in Berlin has protected, is a small, queerly constructed camera which he fastens on the breast of a pigeon and which is so arranged that photographs may be obtained while the bird is in flight.

The structure of the camera and the method of fastening it are his secret, and so is the delicate arrangement employed for opening and shutting the lenses for time exposures, says a Berlin correspondent of the New York World. The inventor claims for his apparatus a great future, especially as it will be an invaluable aid to the soldier in time of war.

Neubronner says he can get a picture of the interior of a fortress in this way, and the military authorities in Berlin are going to let him experiment on the fortress of Spandau, outside Berlin. Several birdseye views he has obtained of interiors of dismantled forts have been shown to the authorities who are said to be surprised at the results. The pictures are in no sense perfect, but they give complete indications of all important positions.

Neubronner claims that his pigeon photographs will be as useful to the general in the field as the balloon. The proportion of successes to failures he reckons as three to seven.

ELECTRIC OPHTHALMIA.

Electric Light May Drive All the World to Green Glasses.

A new disease christened "electric ophthalmia" is said to threaten all users of electric light. According to two Dresden scientists, the damage is done the eye tissues by ultra violet rays of the electric light, and cataract may ultimately be caused.

The same investigators have discovered a simple preventive for electric ophthalmia in the shape of yellow or green spectacles, which they prophesy will become universal as electricity comes more and more into use as an illuminant.

Cries of the Season.

When verdant spring came up the land
 And held us in her fragrant thrall
 We heard ring out on every hand:
 "Play ball! Play ball!"

Now autumn rules the changing year
 And decks the landscape red and brown,
 And, lo, on every side we hear:
 "Touchdown! Touchdown!"
 —Archibald Crombie in New York Sun.

Saved by a Photograph.

A very remarkable incident occurred at Rio de Janeiro.

A passenger on board one of the large liners took a photograph of the harbor. It included a small yacht which had sailed in the morning with two men in her, but returned in the evening with one only. The survivor said his companion had fallen overboard, but his statement was not believed. He was tried and sentenced to death. The matter had by this time come to the ears of the photographer, who remembered that the picture had been taken on the day of the "crime" (or accident) and that the scene embraced a yacht. On examining the print more carefully he noticed a small speck on the sail and in order to determine what it was had an enlargement made. It proved to be the figure of a man falling. It was shown to the authorities at once, and the condemned man was released.

Out to Work.

 "What do you mean?"
 "I wish I didn't have to go to the Van Squawks' ball next week. The Van Squawks wish they didn't have to ask me. Why can't we exchange certificates and call the thing even?"
 —Kansas City Journal.

Why He Barked.

A witness in an Irish court talked so loud that Charles Phillips, who was counsel on the other side, said, "Fellow, why do you bark so furiously?"
 "Because," said the man, looking hard at Phillips, "I think I see a thief!"

The Wrong Horse.

Bridget had been in America only a few months, but she believed in the principle of pretending to know what she ought to know. She had been engaged as laundry girl in a small family of well to do people. When asked if she understood all the details of her work she unhesitatingly replied, "Sure I do, ma'am."

Her mistress was not quite satisfied, however, and while she was busy with her first washing looked in upon her. Bridget seemed to be doing all right, and she left without offering suggestions.

Next morning the ironing was in order, and Bridget was hard at it when her mistress looked in to say, "As you get the clothes ironed, just throw them over the horse."

"All right, ma'am," the busy laundry girl replied without stopping to raise her eyes from her work in hand.

The laundry room was located in an outhouse adjoining the barn, and occasionally the neighing of the family horse and the merry voice of Bridget resounded throughout the house.

Returning to the laundry house a couple of hours later, the lady could scarcely believe her eyes nor restrain her mirth when she beheld the family horse, standing patiently beside Bridget, loaded down with newly ironed sheets, pillowcases, tablecloths and lace trimmed waists and skirts. With an anxious look on her honest face Bridget observed, "I'm glad you've come, ma'am, for I'll have to have another horse."

Working Too Hard.

The owner of the farm had been enjoying himself at the county fair, while his hardworking wife stayed at home to see that the farm suffered no loss in his absence.

"Well, Sarah," said the owner upon his return, "I'm about all tired out. Is the cows in the barn?"

"Yes; long since," replied his wife, barely looking up from the task then in hand.

"Is the harness unharnessed an' fed?"

"Yes."

"Chickens locked up?"

"Yes."

"Wood chopped for mornin'?"

"Yes."

"Wagon heel mended an' ready t' start in th' mornin'?"

"Yes."

"Well, then," concluded the exhausted owner, with a sigh of relief, "let me have my supper. I'm goin' to turn in. Farmin's beginnin' t' tell on me."—New York Herald.

The Popular Coral.

The dealer held up two strings of coral. They were of equal size, but one was dark and dull in hue, the other beautifully pink and translucent.

"The dark one," he said, "is worth 50 cents; the pink one is worth $500. That is what makes coral so popular. It suits all pocketbooks. All over the world it goes. These strings of rough, uncut beads are for the dead of India. They are put round the necks of the bodies about to be burned in the ghats. These large and blood red beads go to Africa. They are much liked by the natives, whose dark skins they perfectly suit. Here are a lot of coral hands with fingers extended in a V—the gesture that wards off the evil eye. The coral hands are for Italy, where the belief in their efficacy is widespread."—Buffalo Express.

He Would Return.

Marlow was three years old. One day his mother said to him, "Now, Marlow, you may go outdoors to play for awhile, but if I see you crossing the street to play with that naughty little boy Willie Burr again I'll give you a hard, hard spanking."

Half an hour later the mother looked out after her boy and saw him playing with Willie Burr. She raised the window and called with forced gentleness: "Marlow, come here to me!"

Marlow came, but as he did so he turned to his companion and said: "You stay right here, Willie. I'm doin' in to get spanked. I'll be wight back."—Delineator.

Catching Rats.

The best way to catch rats is to put any animal substance, well perfumed with oil of rhodium, into a trap. This induces them to enter readily and even draws them from a considerable distance, as they are extremely partial to this oil. An ounce of oil of rhodium will cost you 50 cents. Catnip to a cat is nothing like rhodium to a rat. Oil of rhodium is made from a species of bindweed and is used in perfumery.—New York Press.

The Wrong Shoulder.

In a timber yard two workmen were carrying a large piece of wood when the manager, who happened to come up at the time, accosted one of them. "Joe," said he, "you've got that batten upon the wrong shoulder."

"I know that," was the ready reply. "It should be upon yours!"—London Scraps.

Extending Zone.

"Teacher says," exclaimed the precocious child, "that we live in the temperate zone."

"Yes," answered Colonel Stilwell, "and if these Prohibitionists keep going it'll be worse than that."—Washington Star.

Worrying.

Worrying is one of the greatest drawbacks to happiness. Most of it can be avoided if we only determine not to let trifles annoy us, for the largest amount of worrying is caused by the smallest trifles.

Let him who has bestowed a benefit be silent. Let him who received it tell of it.—Seneca.

MOTHER AWOKE TO FIND HER BABE DEAD

Mrs. Lon Glore Makes Horrifying Discovery—Child Was Dead in Her Arms.

THE BODY WAS QUITE COLD

Of the death of the child of a former Rushville woman the Shelbyville News says today:

"Mrs. Lon Glore of Jackson street, awoke Tuesday morning to find her infant daughter Dessie dead in her arms. The child had evidently smothered during the night and its body was quite cold when the mother made the horrifying discovery at 7 o'clock. The babe was but ten days old.

SANITARY CONDITIONS POOR

The board of health has notified the several owners of the Commercial block that improvements in a sanitary way must be made at once under penalty of being fined. Parts of the hallway are ill kept and makes it not only dangerous from a standpoint of health, but also from fire.

TO GIVE A SMOKER IN THANKSGIVING

Folsom Will "Be at Home" to His Friends on Monday Night, November 30th.

Ed Folsom, the "talk it over" chap, is planning a delightful time for his many friends here and will give a Thanksgiving smoker on Monday evening, November 30, in his offices and the suite of rooms adjoining in the Link building.

Apples, cigars, and "county option" punch will be served in an abundance. Mr. Folsom will put away all that tiresome insurance talk for the occasion and will have some pleasant things to say. As a platform entertainer he is said to be very clever. Other talent will be secured and if possible a local artist will be on hand to furnish part of the program. In event arrangements cannot be made for the last party mentioned, Indianapolis talent will be secured.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vandet takes pleasure in offering two extra good pictures for tonight and tomorrow night, entitled "The Gypsies' Revenge" and "The Kindhearted Bootblack." The first subject is cleverly constructed, showing a band of gypsies endeavoring to be revenged for a seeming slight at the hands of the young lady's sweetheart, thwarted at last by the ingenuity of the young woman herself. The second subject carries a splendid story of a homeless bootblack gaining a home for showing attention to a poor woman and her child which is noticed by a rich man who takes him into his home and educates him. These are two of the best subjects shown lately. Miss Clara Gregg will sing "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary."

WATCH CAREFULLY FIVE DOLLAR BILLS

And See if Any of Them Correspond With the Ones Described Below.

COUNTERFEITERS IN EVIDENCE

Be careful about taking money from a stranger and take a look through that roll you carry.

A new counterfeit five dollar silver certificate has appeared, according to a circular letter issued by John E. Wilkie, chief of the Secret Service Division.

The new counterfeit is an imitation of the Indian head series of 1899, check letter D, face No. 1164, back plate No. 782, W. T. Vernon, Register of the Treasury; Charles H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States.

The number on the specimen in the hands of the Treasury Department officials is D. 47963872.

CURE IT IN ONE DAY.

Coughs and Colds Disappear Like Magic When Hyomei is Used.

If the thousands of people who suffer from hacking coughs and agonizing colds would arouse themselves sufficiently to follow this advice, they would cease to complain within 24 hours.

Here is the advice, if you take it and you are afterwards sorry that you did, it won't cost you a penny.

Go to F. B. Johnson & Co., the druggists, and purchase from them a Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mie) outfit. It will only cost you $1.00. Take it home; use it according to directions, and if it does not cure your cough or cold, take it back and F. B. Johnson & Co. will refund the purchase price.

When you use Hyomei you don't swallow nauseating drugs. You simply breathe in the soothing, pleasant and antiseptic Hyomei air through the little pocket inhaler that comes with each outfit. As this medicated air passes over the inflamed parts, relief comes almost at once, and cure follows.

Mary E. Bennett, Peru, Indiana, writes: "I cannot speak too much in praise of your Hyomei treatment for catarrh. I have been using your remedy for about two weeks, and I have found more relief in that time than anything that I have ever tried. I have spent dollar after dollar getting medicine of the doctor for a troublesome cough which I had, and have tried all kinds of cough syrups and cough tablets, and Hyomei is the only remedy that reached the spot. I given up in despair, but I feel so much better now that I feel as though I have a new lease on my life."

Hyomei is guaranteed by F. B. Johnson & Co. to cure catarrh, grip, croup and asthma, and all diseases of the nose and throat.

DOES YOUR HOT WATER BOTTLE LEAK?

You never can tell when a Hot Water Bottle is going to make trouble by springing a leak. Hot Water Bottles are apt to give all sorts of trouble unless they are good, and it's hard to tell the difference between pure rubber and poor rubber in a Hot Water Bottle when it's new. The Therapeutic Value of a Hot Water Bottle is well known. The application of heat by this means quickly allays pain, reduces inflammation and combats disease in many ways. A Hot Water Bottle is needed by every family—that is a good one—we sell good ones and guarantee every one of them.
